Fowler, however, was desirous of calling at least one more character witness, but his associate persuaded him not to, as one more would make a total of "unlucky thirteen."

Doyle then took the witness stand in his own defense and after showing some signs of fractiousness under the handling of his attorneys in direct stamination, got completely out of their hands when Prosecutor Lynch took over the cross-examination. The Legion crowd, and the Auditorium was taxed to its capacity, received the President right warmly, although its former national commander. Paul V. They both used virtually the same phrases in talking about a military establishment adequate for defense and the prayerful desire for peace, but Mr. Hoover seemed to emphasize the peace notes of his speech, while Bodenhamer emphasized the stirring defense notes, and they got a rise out of the crowd, too.

Bodenhamer, who followed the President, seemed to be urging adequate defense, yet giving assurance that he wanted peace, while the President was urging peace and armaments reduction, yet giving agarance that he would not sacrifice adequate defense to get them.

which will participate with the United States in the forthcoming naval parley in London.

The information was contained in an unusually detailed and ex-employment, our comfort, and our culture depend greatly upon our interchange of goods and ideas with other nations. We must realize that this interchange can not be carried on unless our citizens are flung into every quarter of the globe and the citizens of every other nation are represented in our country.

Must Protect Nationals.

We must realize that some of them will get into troubles well multiply if other nations are at war. We have an obligation, and every other nation has an obligation to see to the protection of their lives, and that justice is done to them so long as they comply with the laws of the countries in which they reside. which they reside. Prom all these relationships frictions and controversies will arise desily.

By our undertaking under the Kellogg pact, to use only pacific means to settle such controversies as these, we have again reaffrmed the doctrine enunciated by that far-sighted statesman, Mr. Elihu Root, ir his famous declaration at Rio de Janiero in 1907. At that time he announced that we would not use war or var-like means to enforce or collect upon private business contracts. It is our settled policy.

But there are other more deep-seated and more dangerous forces which produce friction and controversy than these eruptions over the rights of citizens. We must realize that there are many unsolved problems of boundaries between nations. There are peoples aspring to a greater measure of self-government There are the fears of invasion and domination bequeathed to all humanity from its former wars. There fear and iii will!

We must frankly accept the fact. therefore, that we and all the nations of the world will be involved, for all future time, in small or great controversies and frictions arising out of all of these multiple causes. In these controversies lurk the subtle danger that national temper at any moment may become a heat and that emotion may rise to the fiaming point. Therefore, Beace must be the result of uncessing endeavor.

Agreed to Renounce War.

Agreed to Renounce War.

I have said that recently we have covenanted with other civilized nations not only to renounce war as an instrument of National policy, but also we have agreed that we shall settle all controversies by pacific means. But the machinery for pacific settlement of disputes among nations is, as yet, inadequate We need to strengthen our own provisions for it. Our State Department is the first of these means. It must be strengthened and supported as the great arm of our Government, dedicated to the organization of peace. We need further to extend our treaties with other countries providing methods for reference of controversies to conference, to inquiry as to fact, or to arbitration, or to judicial determination. We have need to define the rules of conduct of nations and to formulate an authoritative system of international law. We have need under proper reservations to support the World Court in order that we may secure judicial determination of certain types of controversies and build up precedents which add to the body of international law. By these agencies we relegate a thousand frictions to orderly processes of settlement and by deliberation in action in action of international law. By these agencies we relegate a thousand frictions to orderly processes of settlement and by deliberation in action we prevent their development into national inflammation.

We are also interested that other nations shall settle by pacific means the controversies arising between them. From every selfish point of view the preservation of peace among other nations is of interest to the United States. In such wars we are in constant danger of entanglement because of interference with the widespread activities of our citizens. But of far more importance than this, our ideals and our hopes are for the progress of justice through the entire world. We deaire to see all humanity relieved of the hideous blight of war and of the cruelities and injustices that lead to war. We are interested in all methods that can be deviced to assistance.

Power of Public Opinion.

There are today two roads to that end. The European nations have, by the covenant of the League of Nations, agreed that if nations fail to settle their differences peaceably then force should be applied by other nations to compel them to be reasonable. We have refused to travel this road. We are confident that a least

That is the effect of the covenant we have entered into, not to use war as an inatument of national policy. No American will arise today and say that we wish one gun er one armed man beyond that necessary for the defense of our people. To do so would create distrust in other nations and also would be an invitation to war. Proper defense requires military strength relative to that of other nations. We will reduce our naval strength in proportion to any other Having said that it only remains for the others to say how low they will go. It can not be too low for us.

There is another of these age-old controversies which stir men's minds and their fears. That is the so-called freedom of the seas. In reality in our day it is simply the rights of private citizens to trade in time of war, for there is today complete freedom of the seas in times of peace. If the world succeeds in eatabilishing peaceful methods of settlement of controversies, the whole question of trading rights in time of war becomes a purely academic discussion. Peace is its final solution.

But I am going to have the temerity to put forward an idea which its final solution.

But I am going to have the temerity to put forward an idea which might break through the involved legal questions and age-old interpretations of right and wrong by a practical step which would solve a large part of the intrinsic problem. It would act as a preventive as well as a liquidation of war. I offer it only for the consideration of the world, I have not made it a governmental proposition to any nation and do not do so now. I know that any wide departure from accepted ideas requires long and searching examination. No idea can be perfected except upon the idea can be perfected except upon the anvil of debate. This is not a proposition for the forthcoming naval conference, as that session is for a definite purpose, and this proposal will not be injected into it.

Food Ships Like Hospital Ships.

For many years, and bown of a polgnant personal experience. I have held that food ships should be made free of any interference in times of war. I would place all vessels laden solely with food supplies on the same footing as hospital ships. The time has come when we should remove starvation of women and children from the wespens of warfers.

has come when we should remove starvation of women and children from the weapons of warfare.

The rapid growth of industrial civilization during the past half century has created in many countries populations far in excess of their domestic food supply and thus steadily weakened their natural defenses. As a consequence, protection for overseas or imported supplies has been one of the most impelling causes of increasing naval armaments and military alliances. Again, in countries which produce surplus food their economic stability is also to a considerable degree dependent upon keeping open the avenues of their trade in the export of such surplus, and this again stimulates armament on their part to protect such outlets.

Thus the fear of an interruption in sea-borne food supplies has powerfully tended toward naval development in both importing and exporting nations. In all important wars of recent years to cut off or to protect such supplies has formed a large element in the strategy of all combatants. We can not condemn any one nation; almost all who have been engaged in war have participated in it. The world must aconer or later recognize this as one of the underlying causes of its armed situation should be rejected among the weapons of warfare.

To those who doubt the practicaof warfare.

of warfare.

To those who doubt the practicability of the idea, and who insist that agreements are futile for the purpose of controlling conduct in war. I may point out that the Belgian Relief Commission delivered more than 2.000 shiploads of food through two rings og blockade and did it under neutral guarantees continually during the whole World War. The protection of food movements in time of war would constitute a most important contribution to the rights of all parties, whether neutrals or belligerents, and would greatly tend toward leasening the pressure for naval strength. Foodstuffs comprise about 25 per cent of the commerce of the world but would constitute a much more important portion of the trade likely to be interfered with by a blockade.

Power of Good Will.

ters, something far more powerfulthan treaties and the machinery of arbitration and conciliation and judicial decision, something more vital than even our covenants to abolish war, something more mighty than armies and navies in defense.

That is to build the spirit of good will and friendlines, to create respect and confidence, to stimulate esteem between peoples—this is the far greatest guaranty of peace. In that atmosphere, all controversies become but passing incidents of the day. Not does this friendliness, respect, and esteem come to nations who behave weakly or supinely. It comes to those who are strong but who use their strength not in arrogance or injustice. It is through these means that we establish the sincerity, the justice and the dignity of a great people. That is a new vision of diplomacy that is dawning in the world.

The colossal power of the United States overshadows scores of freedom-loving nations. Their defense against us is a moral defense. To give to them confidence that with the high moral sense of the American people this defense is more powerful than all armies or navies, is a sacred duty which lies upon us.

It has been my cherished hope to organize positively the foreign relations of the United States on this high foundation and to do it in reality, not simply in diplomatic phrases. The establishment of that relationship is vastly more important than the mere settlement of the details of any of our chronic international problems. In such pure air and in that alone can both sides with frankness and candor present their points of view and either find just formulas for settlement, or alternatively, agree to disagree until time finds a solution. We have in recent years heard a vast chater of enmity and criticism both within and without our borders where there is no real enmity and no conflict of vital interest and no unsolvable con-

It is a homely parallel but equally true that relations between nations are much like relations between individuals. Questions which arise between friends are settled as the passing incidents of a day. The very same questions between men who distrust and suspect each other may lead to enmity and conflict.

It was in this endeavor that I visited the presidents of the South American republics. That is why I welcomed the visit of the prime minister of Great Britain to the United States.

Three men who went before the District grand jury yesterday are supposed to have related all or nothabout what they knew regarding wetness of Washington so far the National prohibition act is Loomis and Hight were supposed to give testimony substantiating that given by Senator Smith W Brookhart, of Iowa, who appeared before the body last week and told of a "bodze party" given at the Williard Hotel by Wall street men for a group of senators, while Liggett was supposed to relate where he got the information which he used in an article which he declared liquor conditions in Washington are worse than in the days of the open saloon.

Shortly after they had made their departure, United States Attorney Leo A. Rover amounced that no additions facts in that investigation would be delved into by the grand jury at this time. The announcement by Rover that the grand jury would be asked to in-vestigate the Scrivener case came as a bombshell. Considerable agitation has been raised since the McPherson has been raised since the McPherson investigation, which is to be renewed today, but until yesterday no intimation had been forthcoming that the matter would be considered.

Rover in announcing that the case would be taken up said that he had subpensed John L. Gibson, former chauffeur to Commissioner Brownwell, to testify. Gibson, making an address before the Open Forum Sunday, declared that Sertvener had been murdered and that a policeman knew who killed him.

Although Senator Cole Blease (Democrat). South Carolina, has urged an investigation of the Scrivener death and has censured the United States attorney's office for its tardiness, it remained for Gibson to kindle the spark. anything that might be fastened on some one else.

Lieut. Edward J. Kelly, former head of the homicide squad, is reported to have been accused by Gibson of knowing who murdered Scrivener. This alleged declaration on the part of Gibson is said to have prompted Kelly to consult Rover and ask that Gibson be summoned before the grand jury to tell all he knows about the case. Gibson, however, was subpensed on the initiative of the district attorney, and this action was not prompted by Kelly, it was learned. Gibson served on the pol's force from 1904 until 1908, when he resigned. Immediately after Scrivener met his death, Gibson revealed yesterday, he was engaged by a "certain" organization to investigate the detective's death. Gibson said that he took information about the case to Maj, Henry G. Pratt, now superintendent, and then head of the detective bureau. Gibson said that Pratt laughed at him.

Maj. Pratt recalled the incident yesterday, saying that Gibson came to him with a theory several months after Scrivener's death. Maj. The chief of police said that he would like to see the grand jury make a thorough investigation of Gibson's charges.

Nevertheless, Lynch persisted in his questioning and Doyle obligingly unfolded the inner functionings of his mind and his subsequent acts in preparing the comment and recommendation demanded by Maj. Pratt relative to Policeman Allen's alleged insubordinate letter threatening to investigate the district attorney's office for alleged laxity in prosecuting two indictments returned several years ago.

On the whole, however, Doyle's temporary dismissal of coursel and his frank answers and willingness to answer probably reacted to his benefit, for it tended to emphasize the apparently. well-meant motives that prompted the language used in Doyle's letter to his chief.

He denied that he had confided its contents to either Policeman Allens or newspapermen before presenting it to Pratt.

He said that he personally delivered the letter to Pratt, in the presence of Inspector William Shelby, and that he told his chief that it was an unplessant task, but that he had given his honest opinion in the letter was pratt amiled and told Dovle that well and told Dovle that well and told Dovle that well and told Explains His Approval.

Doyle explained that in approving Allen's statement that he intended to investigate the District Attorney's office, he had in mind that Allen only proposed to check up that office's recipions in regard to a prisoner whom Allen had arrested, and which was a procedure which he himself had frequently followed. Doyle said that after Allen had arrested a man whom in he deemed particularly dangerous to society, he called upon police head quarters for a certified copy of the prisoner's record which showed five cases, all of which had been nolled a prossed. Complaining witnesses told Allen that there were 32 charges pending against the prisoner and two indictments which had never been taken to court. It was to check up these assertions, which proved correct, that Capt. Doyle believed Allen's investigation was directed, he said.

MR. HOOVER'S ADDRESS.

Millions of individuals here and abroad will be encouraged when they read the Armistice Day speech of the President of the United States. They will draw comfort from the fact that the head of the strongest nation in the world is striving with might and main to find a way to prevent wars. Americans will applaud his sentiments as expressing the true spirit of America, while foreigners can not but feel that the United States may be depended upon to take a leading part in effective steps to maintain peace.

Mr. Hoover does not indulge in the day-dream of a blissful peace accomplished by mere example. He does not advocate the scrapping of ships and arms by this country as a means of inducing other countries to follow suit. Indeed, he recognizes the massive fact, always ignored or distorted by pacifists, that lack of defense is provocative of war. The world is under arms; with 10,000,000 more active and reserve soldiers than before the late war. Combatant ships have been decreased somewhat, but aircraft and other war weapons are more potent than before the war. The President reminds the country that experience gives warning that wars are to be expected. At the same time, the world is more genuinely inclined toward peace than ever before. The almost universal adherence to the Kellogg pact is a most signficant proof of this progress.

The danger to peace lies in controversies which can not be prevented from arising, because of commercial rivalries, the pressure of peoples for selfgovernment, boundary disputes, and competition in armaments. The problem is to set up methods whereby controversies can be settled by peaceful means, and to eliminate competition in armaments. Mr. Hoover significantly suggests that the United States has need "under proper reservations" to support the World Court. As for the method adopted by the League of Nations, that of using combined international force to compel nations to "be reasonable." Mr. Hoover bluntly states that "we have refused to travel this road." He holds that in the Western Hemisphere, at least, public opinion may be so organized as to check violence. If European nations will ponder this statement they will perceive that the secret of peace lies in adoption of the rule that government shall be based upon the consent of the governed.

Although Mr. Hoover admits that future wars are more than probable, he very briefly dismisses the problem of freedom of the seas by suggesting that it will become an academic question if the nations succeed in establishing peaceful methods of settling controversies. Unfortunately, denial of freedom of the seas to neutrals in time of war is itself a cause of war, and has driven the United States into two wars. This problem should be tackled and settled while there is peace, for when war occurs abroad the United States may have no other recourse than to make war in defense of its right to use the seas for peaceful and neutral com-

The novel suggestion is made by Mr. Hoover that food ships be made free of any interference in time of war. He would place them on the same footing as hospital ships. Nations which are dependent upon food from abroad are compelled to provide naval protection as a safeguard against national starvation in time of war. The humane instinct of every one supports the idea that women and children should not be starved because of war. Mr. Hoover answers doubts as to the practicability of the idea by citing the experience of the Belgian Relief Commission, which delivered more than 2,000 shiploads of law take its orderly course, and too much food through two rings of blockade and did it under neutral guarantees continuously during the war.

Again, unfortunately, the immunizing of food ships during war clashes with the very purposes of modern war. Nations now fight with all their resources. Everything is contraband if destined to the enemy, and food most of all. The effect of a rule immunizing food ships carrying relief to women and children would be as much as one belligerent saying to another: "We propose to destroy only your male population of fighting age, but we are willing that your nation should have means of carrying on the war to destroy us. You can have food, but you must not give it to your soldiers or sailors." This arrangement would require that each belligerent should have supervision over the distribution of food in the enemy country-s preposterous situa-

Many British authorities contend that the blockade of Germany was the real force that gained victory for the allies. The protests from Germany during the war indicate that the starvation blockade helped mightily to bring Germany to terms. It can not be expected that a nation fighting for its life will permit food to go to the enemy if it has power to prevent it. The suggestion for immunizing food ships, like that for abolishing gas, submarines, and other war weapons, may be applauded in theory as making war more humane, but war can not be made humane. As Mr. Hoover himself observes, the implements of war are now more deadly than ever before.

The proper role of the greatest nation in the world, seeing that it is peaceloving and nonaggressive, is to be and remain so strongly armed that it can compel others to leave it alone. As civilization advances, governments will come more and more under the control of their own peoples. The greatest contribution to the cause of peace in the world was the establishment of the Republic of the United States. Other nations please copy. .

FRENCH NAVAL PLANS.

Great Britain's willingness to limit naval armaments will be governed to a large extent by the position which France takes at the London conference. France, it now develops, will be guided not only by the attitude of Italy, but also by naval agreements which Russia, Spain, Turkey and perhaps Germany may be willing to make. This exwhy Foreign Minister Briand is determined that no binding naval agreement be entered into at London or until the League of Nations deals fully and comprehensively with the whole disarmament problem. Slowly but surely the French position is becoming clear. According to Pertinax, the French writer who is in close touch with M Briand, France will make no commitment until the league acts. In addition to the reasons which M. Briand has already given for this decision, Pertinax adds another in his cable published yesterday, wherein he states:

Owing to her naval responsibilities in the North Sea and in the Mediterranean. France will be compelled to insist that the resolutions of the five-power con-ference should become effective only in so far as they are adopted by such na-tions as Russia, Spain, Turkey, &c. Otherwise, the whole naval equilibrium established under the eventual treaty established under the eventual treaty might be easily disturbed by the play of naval understandings and alliances.

With respect to the cruiser problem, Tardieu and Briand will point out that the abandonment of the Anglo-French entente' by Mr. MacDonald necessitates a stronger French navy. Heretofore the entente provided a shield of protection in the Atlantic which the French say must be replaced by additional swift cruisers, submarines, de stroyers, &c. The French will favor doing way with as many battleships as possible, as France has no battleship strength comparable with that of Great Britain, and reduction along this line would be a net gain

With the entente gone, it would be suicidal for France to think of parity with Italy, according to the Briand view. France must have an eye to her naval protection in the Mediterranean as well as in the Atlantic and communication must be preserved with French possessions in North Africa, from which man power would be needed to swel the ranks of the French army in the event

The possibility of an Italian-Spanish pool ing of naval forces has convinced French naval leaders that the French navy must be in a position to cope with any such possible combination in the future. The example of Germany's new warship construction is also a factor in the calculations which the French are making of their naval needs. Unless and until France knows what these powers propose to do in limiting their navies France will not make any agreements as to her future naval strength.

It is clear that Tardieu and Briand re gard the coming London conference as chiefly political. They propose therefore to formu late a French program which will be unalterable in the face of anticipated maneuver ing at London.

MR. ROVER'S GOOD WORK.

These are trying times for District Attor ney Leo A. Rover and his office. Appointed to succeed Peyton Gordon when the latter was elevated to the bench, Mr. Rover ha had to deal with a series of incidents as unusual and as spectacular as ever have been presented before a district attorney in such a short space of time. Each incident has been accompanied by inflamed public opinion, prejudiced on one side or the other. There tary, and 1 has been far too little disposition to let the | whom were hasty criticism of officials trying their bes to do their duty.

Mr. Rover's most signal accomplishment to date has been in the prosecution of bucket shop operators. As a result of his activity indictments have been brought, and that unlawful industry will doubtless disappear. The vigorous fashion in which he went after bucket shop operators constitutes the best measure of Mr. Rover's ability as a public prosecutor.

THE SOVIET'S WICKED PARTNER.

The trap into which the Labor government of England fell by recognition of the Soviet regime in Russia is now plainly apparent. Dispatches from Moscow quote spokesmen of the Soviet government to the effect that guarantees against propaganda by the Communist International have not been given and can not be given. Soviet officialdom is annoved by the statement of Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson in the House of Commons that the agreement against propaganda is effective against the International Communist

The same old trick which previously led to disruption of diplomatic relations between Russia and Great Britain is to be resorted to again. The Soviet government gives solemn guarantees that it will not flood British territory with its revolutionary propaganda, and as soon as the House of Commons votes to extend recognition, it is announced that the Soviet dictatorship will not be responsible for the activities of its agent, the Communist International. With duplicity of which only the bolshevists are capable, the Soviet regime extends one hand, as if in friendship, and with the other knifes Great Britain in the back. It would be a happy day in Moscow if ever opportunity to serve the United States in the same way were presented.

It is useless for the Russians to pretend that there is no connection between the communistic dictatorship now in power and the Communist International. Both are controlled by the Russian Communist party, and it is reported on good authority that the government continues to subsidize the International. It is the avowed purpose of the latter organization to incite the working classes of all nations to revolution against the so-called capitalistic system. By secretly encouraging the activities of these international revolutionists and outwardly extending the hand of friendship to other nations the bolshevists strike a blow at all organized government. Whenever a new victim falls into the trap their cause is strengthened. The inconsistency of the British position must now be apparent to even those members of the House of Commons who cast their votes for recognition.

ALMOST 3 A MINUTE

By THEODORE G. JOSLIN. In the Boston Transcript.

The population of continental United States now increasing at the rate of about 1,600,-000 persons per year, or approximately one person every 23 seconds. The total increase made up of the annual excess of births over deaths, which amounts to 1,150,000 and the excess of immigration over emigration, which amounts to an additional 240,000 per year. By 1930 the population will be more than 30 times as great as it was in 1790 and nearly twice what it was in 1890, or only 40 years ago.

History records no other instance in which the population has increased so rapidly. Further, there has been no other nation in which the increase in population has been accompanied by such improvement in the comfort and well-being of the people. As a statistician, William Steuart, chief of the Bureau of the Census, believes that this advancement has been due in no small degree to the definite knowledge we have of our production, our resources, our facilities for transportation and our population, as expressed in current statistics. It is the duty of the Bureau of the Census to compile much f this information and give publicity to it so that every individual and every industrial and commercial enterprise, big or little, may have it and be in a position to make use of it. The 4,000,000 people who lived in the United States in 1790 occupied a territory of 868,000 square miles, there being 4.1 persons for each square mile of territory. The present area of continental United States is 2,974,000 square miles and the average population per square mile in 1930 will be more than 40, or nearly ten times the earlier average. In 1790 there were in the United States only six cities having as many as 8,000 inhabitants. The population of these cities formed a little more than 3 per cent of the total population of the country. 1920 there were 924 such cities and their population was nearly 44 per cent of the total. Including the population of smaller cities down to those with 2.500 inhabitants. the urban population of the United States in 1920 formed a little more than half of the total and the rural a little less than half, while the farm population taken alone formed ess than 30 per cent. It appears, therefore, that we are becoming more and more a nation of cities. But there are certain strong factors operating against this tendency. One of the most potent of these is the automobile. You may be obliged to work in a city, but if you own a car you can readily live out in the more spacious regions of hollyhocks, roses and vegetable gardens. There are some who prophesy that by reason of this growth of suburban residential greas the 1930 census will not show the usual increase in the proportion of urban population.

Beginning with the census of 1850 the name of each individual in the family was Thus we find that the family of Abraham Lincoln, enumerated at Springfield Ill., in 1860, consisted of Mr. Lincoln, his wife, Mary; his three sons, Robert T., Willie W. and Thomas; a servant, and a boy of 1 named Philip Dinkell. At that census each individual was asked to give the value of his personal and real property. Lincoln re turned $12,000 for his personal property and $5,000 for his real estate. At the same census President James Buchanan was returned on one of the schedules for the District of Columbia. His household consisted of himself, ha niece, Harriet Lane; a secre employes and servants, all of oreign-born except one.

Race Wisdom Becomes Instinct, But Folly Dies With the Individual, By ROBERT QUILLEN

T NSTINCT serves the "lower animals" in place of reason, and is that fact is the hope of the human race.

For instinct is race knowledge, inherited by the new-born, and to possess it is to escape the unpleasant and uncertain business of

Those who must learn are confused by many teachers and buffeted by hard experience, and may end their unhappy days without acquiring the ability to distinguish between the true and the false; but and lamentable traditions so plain instinct is the distilled wisdom of a thousand generations and it makes no errors. The insects, oldest of earth's inhabitants, seem the wisest of all creatures. They are guilty of no follies or excesses. They make no experiments. They know what is right and necessary and profitable. and this inborn knowledge masters them. They are incapable of making foolish decisions. Man, the newest of earth's creatures, has in some small degree profited by the wisdom of his ancestors. He inherits from many generations of decency a tendency to be unselfish, a respect for honor and a craving for truth. He is a nobler creature than his unwashed ancestors because their trivings to improve themselves developed decent race instincts. He inherits a sense of morality.

If he inherits less than the ants and the bees, it is because his race has had less time to accumulate wealth. Yet the fact that he does inherit tendencies and capacities unknown to primitive man affords proof that his inheritance will grow with shocked the senators most the passing centuries and eventually dower him at birth with the knowledge and wisdom necessary to a sane and profitable existence.

When men have lived as long as the ants have, why doubt that their inheritance of race wisdom will guide them as sanely as instinct now guides the ants?

If a few generations of good breeding can produce a man with a inborn aversion to things that are vile and an inborn capacity for the enjoyment of things that are beautiful and fine, why doubt that I am not familiar with the a thousand thousand generations schooled in decency will produce men born with a passion for right and truth and therefore incapable of wrong and folly?

That any bishop or priest of church should assume to say that the display of the American flag in public school rooms constitutes "dangerous fetish worship white promotes thoughts of war amon school children," is a statemer with our ideals as a people but is utterly contrary to that the flag stands as a symbol. It is not but a symbol of loyalty. Of course, stances under which the statement was made, nor have I before copy of the address, but assuming matter of fact, in most of the Episcopal churches of the country the flag is either carried in procession or else adorns the chancel, It is not symbol of war, but as the symbol of national ideals and national purposes. If ever there was a time when we needed to inculcate a spirit of resp which the flag stands it is the present Bishop of Washington.

Statues From Statuary Hall Might Be Placed on Avenues Named for Corresponding States.

To the Editor of The Post-Sir: The public is painfuly co the overcrowded condition of Statuar Hall, to relieve which a number of suggestions have been made. One is the erection of a building in which to accommodate these effigies. This would cost considerable money. better and more economical disposi-tion of these statues would be, in my humble judgment, to distribute them throughout the City of Washington to points on the avenues named for the States which presented them.

For instance, out on Wisconsin avenue at the intersection of several streets is a circle where it would be appropriate to place the Pere Marquette Statue presented by the State of Wisconsin. This statue is con-ceded to be the best work of art in the collection. There are many other places along avenues named for the States where statues could be placed in this way. Of course, the consent of the States to do this would have to be first obtained. Some members of the House regard this suggestion as both feasible and proper, and a practical way of relieving the congestion in Statuary Hall, and the adornment of vacant spaces along avenues in this beautiful city.

Even Though It's

—in the garden, it would be worth shivering for a minute to have a bridal picture made in a setting so lovely. More brides than usual have decided to immortalize their wedding day in the autumnal charms of out-of-doors. Underwood & Underwood are famous for their bridal pictures, and have made scores of exquisite studies of brides and bridal parties. Some that have been made in the last week or two seem more wonderful than any they have made before, impossible as it sounds.

It is not too early to think about pictures for Christmas giving. If you have your sittings now, while your clothes are new and fresh, your pictures will be much more interesting. Then, too, you will have time to contemplate the proofs and decide on which to have finished. It's too had to ever rush anything so important as photographs. Underwood & Underwood do wonderful rush work, of course, but you know it is not logical to suppose that the finest retouching and most careful finishing could be done too fast.

My advice would certainly be, have your pictures for Christmas giving made up right away.

You Would Be

As Curious

—as I was to know how it was possible for Schuyler & Lounsbery to have in their house at 1400 Twentieth street, such matchless pieces of furniture, such unbelievable chintzes and brocades, and such apparently, unlimited capacity for securing instantly, exactly what you want for your house, more than anything else in the world.

The whole thing is that Miss Schuyler and Mrs. Lounsbery have the proper contacts in New York and abroad, which solves everything. It is a wonderful privilege to know where to go for certain things you want. It makes everything else quite simple. Only experienced buyers in this highly specialized field could enjoy this advantage.

Which is all by way of saying that any one contemplating having a room, house or apartment done over, in the most fascinating manner possible, will take their problem to Schuyler & Lounsbery and have no further worries.

You will enjoy the treat of seeing the cunning house they have at this address. Working offices are in rooms at the back, but all other rooms ero perfectly appointed with the most adorable furnishings. Many museum pieces are included. However, I must say that when I went in yesterday, so many of my favorites had disappeared, gone to new homes, that you must be advised to go in seon and often to keep up with events. you can find at the Martinique Hotel. This attractive little hostelry on Sixteenth street near M houses many interesting folk. who consider themselves fortunate to have found a place which combines so many of the things which go to make up a pleasant life.

If one must live outside of a regular home, I can think of nothing more delightful than a permanent residence at the Martinique. It is possible to have monthly rates for both the sultes and the cafe. You might be surprised to know what a moderate tariff is charged for one room and bath. Two rooms and bath, attractively furnished, may be had at a surprisingly low figure.

-the people of Washington will have an opportunity to see for the first time Spuin's greatest chancer. La Argentina presents a program of her illimitable dances. This is the second of the Artist's Course, to which Mrs. Wilson-Creene treats us. There are five afternoons in this series, each an event of artistic Importance.

La Argentina has been hailed with keenest anthusiasm wherever she has appeared. People who have seen her say she is a woman of fire with the grace of a panther. It is impossible to describe the charm of her performance, as she is in her own way utterly captivating. I do not know whether you can secure tickets at this late date, but you can at least try. Call up the Wilson-Greene Bureau, District 6493, and see what you can do. Better still, drop around there. Droop's, 1300 G street, and buy your tickets outright. That is the surer way, of cqurse.

Perhaps you are so fortunate as to have season tickets for the entire course, so there is no need for you to worry about reservations for any special concert. That is the best way to de. But-if it happens that you prefer to choose the concerts you wish to attend, you can buy your tickets separately.

—in the garden, it would be worth shivering for a minute to have a bridal picture made in a setting so lovely. More brides than usual have decided to immortalize their wedding day in the autumnal charms of out-of-doors. Underwood & Underwood are famous for their bridal pictures and have made scores of exquisite studies of brides and bridal parties. Some that have been made in the last week or two seem more wonderful than any they have made before, impossible as it sounds.

It is not too early to think about pictures for Christmas giving. If you have your sittings now while your clothes are new and fresh, your pictures will be much more interesting. Then, too, you will have time to contemplate the proofs and decide on which to have finished. Tes too bad to ever rush anything so important as photographs. Underwood & Underwood do wonderful rush work, of course, but you know it is not logical to suppose that the finest retouching and most careful finishing could be done too fast.

My advice would certainly be, have your pictures for Christmas giving made up right away.

You Would Be

As Curious

-as I was to know how it was possible for Schuyler & Lounsbery to have in their house at 1400

Twentieth street, such matchless pieces of furniture, such unbelievable chinizes and brocades, and such apparently, unlimited capacity for securing instantly, exactly what you want for your house, more than anything else in the world.

The whole thing is that Miss Schuyler and Mrs. Lounsbery have the proper contacts in New York and abroad, which solves everything. It is a wonderful privilege to know where to go for certain things you want. It makes everything else quite simple. Only experienced buyers in this highly specialized field could enjoy this advantage.

Which is all by way of saying that any one contemplating having a room, house or apartment done over, in the most fascinating manner possible, will take their problem to Schuyler &
Lounsbery and have no further worries.

You will enjoy the treat of seeing the cunning house they have at this address. Working offices are in rooms at the back, but all other rooms are perfectly appointed with the most adorable furnishings. Many museum pieces are included. However, I must say that when I went in yesterday, so many of my favorites had disappeared, gone to new homes, that you must be advised to go in seon and often to keep up with events. Their telephone number is Decatur 4637.

Just at the moment there is no place downtown where one can drop in for tea and a few jolly dances. So when the Willard actually announces the date for this innovation, there is sure to be a rush for reservations. The Willard has a marvelous orchestra, the kind which makes dancing irresistible. Dinner parties will be more attractive than ever when dancing is added. Since the famous Linassier has joined the staff of the Willard. you can find at the Martinique Hotel. This attractive little hostelry on Sixteenth street near M houses many interesting folk. Who consider themselves fortunate to have found a place which combines so many of the things which go to make up a pleasant life.

If one must live outside of a regular home. I can think of nothing more delightful than a permanent residence at the Martinique. It is possible to have monthly rates for both the suites and the cafe. You might be surprised to know what a moderate tariff is charged for one room and bath. Two rooms and bath, attractively furnished, may be had at a surprisingly low figure.

afternoon of this week, and every one is anticipating it with great enthusiasm.

Nothing quite like it has ever been seen in Washington. Mme. Brunl, who has recently come here from Paris, took this interesting old house and remodeled the interior in the most fascinating manner. The Moderne Art idea has been carried out throughout, with black glass and mirrors and silver walls and high colors subtly introduced for a gorgeous effect. There is a beautiful stairway in the house which will be a stunning descent for the pretty models who will exhibit Mme. Bruni's creations. Mme. Bruni is well known in Paris and New York and has designed gowns, shoes and hast for many of the most important makers. The first exhibit will include creations for advanced winter wear, and for early Falm Beach airs. Some of the things for winter resorts are too ravishing for words! They have parasols, shoes and complete ensembles for beach and surf.

Mme. Bruni's cvening gowns and afternoon costumes are especially lovely. Local society girls will act as mannequins at the fermal opening on Thursday afternoon, and also at the preshowing this evening. There will be music and dancing too. I believe.

Bridal Gowns

are exquisite creations. Some of the most geous models are of ivory satin, with long wor ful trains and delicate veils, with bridesmaids gowns equally lovely.

Most girls contemplating marriage know that the easiest way to acquire a trousseau is to walk right in to Pasternak's and select wedding gown and brideamaid's costumes all at one visit.

Frocks for day and evening, furs and coate, stunning hats and accessories all be chosen from the generous displays sin Pasternak's, 1219 Connecticut avenue.

La Argentina has been halled with keenest enthusiasm wherever she has appeared. People who have seen her say she is a woman of fire with the grace of a panther. It is impossible to describe the charm of her performance, as she is in her own way utterly captivating. TODAY'S WOMEN

By EARL MINDERMAN NOVELIBER 12.

LIZABETH CADY STANTON, one of the first suffragettes in America and perhaps the most America and perhaps the most active, was born this day, 1815. When she was preparing to enter college she discovered that nowhere could she receive the education her brother was able to obtain. As a result she was a life-long worker for equal educational opportunities for women.

With Lucretia Mott, she issued the first call for a woman suffrage convention in 1848. From that time on her career was a struggle for equal rights. For 25 years she addressed congressional committees to gain a constitutional amendment for greater privileges for women. She traveled and lectured on the subject of equal rights all over the United States, England, Scotland and France.

IP November 12 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m., and from 6 p. m. to 8:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 9:30 a. m. to 10:35 a. m., and from 4 p. m. to to 10:35 a. m., and from 4 p. m. to 5:30 p. m.

There will be a tendency to relax and to loosen up on the reins of most phases of life on this day, and things will jog along on their own momentum. There will be a slumping in both business and financial affairs. A poor time for speculation.

Children born on this November 12 will have strong, emphatic personalities, and will have a sincere love for knowledge. They will be clearighted and will possess a number of talents, some one of which should be taken seriously. They will have very vivid imaginations, and will apend considerable time in their dream worlds.

You have one trait which is of supreme importance to your power of doing things, and to your happiness in doing them—it is your enthusiasm. It is Nature's tonic, which puts pep into your actions and which gives you the moral strength to cheerfully and optimistically face your obstacles and handicaps. It keeps you interested and interesting. Your outlook has never been a cramped one, but its horizon will be ever widening as the years pass by. Travel and knowledge will never make you biase, indifferent or bored, no matter where or with whom you are. You can always hear or see something of interest. Your disposition is a happy one, and you are the same to one and all. A cheerful heart is behind your tears are both genuine, and they donate your innermost feelings.

You are a ready sympathizer, and the troubles of others are poured into your ears. Your confidences are retained, however; they never find an exit through your lips to those who should not know. You never, under any circumstance, betray a friend. You are generous, broad-minded and very much inclined to tend to your own business. Your interest in others is not of an intrusive nature.

South should have ruffed the third Club with one of his high trumps, not with the Trey; with Ace-Eight in dummy this play could not cost him anything. South then should have led a trump and, when the finesse lost, if East returned a trump, South should have played his Trey, passing the trick up to dummy's Eight. Dummy then would led a Heart and South would finesse, then a third trump lead from South, won with dummy's Ace, and a second Heart finesse. After that, dummy had the King of Diamonds for an entry to win the next trick and return the Diamond for the finesse of South's Jack. Playing in that way, dummy obtains an extra entry and Declarer makes game.

THE ONLY FRIEND who calls during the Vita-Ninutes

is the Morning Paper

At the one time of day when people are most alert, receptive, energetic, their time is their own. Let a salesman try to get in—but the morning paper is welcomed.

EARLY-morning energy, when all-day plans are made and rested minds are quick with decisions, makes the morning hours very different from later hours of the day. Morning hours are made of Vita-Minutes.

Things that get started in the morning get action!
Things that morning minds decide upon are very apt to get themselves done that same day.

That's one reason why The Post, which is read during the Vita-Minutes, has such a hold on its many readers in the Washington territory. That's one reason why Post advertisers prosper in their use of its columns.

Buying decisions are made during the Vita-Minutes!

If you'll think of the thousands of readers who are scanning morning Post pages at this very moment, and if you'll think of the buying-power they represent—of the many things they need and buy, day after day—you'll have an idea of the merchandising power of this Vita-Minutes newspaper, the morning Post.

Readers of The Post are the customers whom every merchant wants. And during the Vita-Minutes they're at home to no callers—except The Post.

be allowed to write is considered entirely problematical and rather doubtful, for the reason that, so far as limits of liability are concerned, each court or jurisdiction has to deal with specific conditions and cfrecumstances which differ from those encountered in each other jurisdiction.

The limit of 80 per cent of unencumbered real estate holdings imposed by the United States commissioner is seen as entirely inadequate for bondsmen in the Supreme Court, where the duration of bonds is considerably longer and where there are much more comprehensive facilities for guarding against the possibility that prisoners might default on their bonds, while, on the other hand, to remove the limit in the commissioner's office might cause serious difficulties.

But in the matter of regulations governing the writing of bonds other than from the standpoint of limitation of liability, the bondsmen and the courts alike appear to be in accord that greater uniformity would be highly advisable.

At present the only uniform regulation is that in case of a default or forfeiture, the bondsman is debarred from writing bonds in any court or jurisdiction until such time as the forfeiture is paid or the bondsman is released from suspension by the court in which the forfeiture occurred.

1,835,000 Jews Live

In New York, Estimate

New York, Nov. 11 (A.P.) .- Ther re 1.835,000 Jews in New York City Jewish communal survey made pub lic last night reports.

The report, based on a three-year study, predicts a Jewish population of more than 2,000,000 in Greater New York five years from now.

No Other Definite Rules.

Other than that, the Supreme Court has no definite regulations whatever, the acceptability of any bondsman being left to the discretion of the court in each case. Each of the other courts and juriedictions has its own rules and regulations governing the writing of bail or surety bonds, but while in several instances the individual rules of one jurisdiction may be similar to those of another, they are not identical and in toto they vary widely.

The jurists of Washington in general appear to view with high favor the action of the bondsmen of the District in organizing an association for the promotion of ethics and of cooperation with the courts, as reported exclusively in The Fost on Sunday,

"There is no question," said Justice McCoy, "that anything which tends toward improvement is to be commended. I have found that as individuals the bondsmen of Washington are a particularly high type of men, mended. I have found that as individuals the bondsmen of Washington are a particularly high type of men, and it is presumable that as an organization they will be able to accomplish much good which would present serious difficulties if attempted by an individual."

The association's by-laws committee, consisting of Edward Buckley, P. A. Shugrue and Meyer Weinstein, is to confer today with Milton S. Kronheim, president of the new association, and present to him the proposed by-laws, code of ethics and regulations for the organization, after which the committee and Kronheim plan to call upon the various presiding jurists to lay the articles before them.

No Other Definite Rules.

Criticism to Be Asked.

The bondamen will request any possible criticism of their proposed rules that no features which might be open to condemnation or criticism may be found in the final code as adopted, and that the rules, regulations and by-laws of the organization will meet with the approval of the courts from the start.

the start.

This, it is pointed out, is in line with the basic purpose of the organization to cooperate with the courts to the fullest extent to the end that unethical practices by bondsmen may be eliminated and prevented.

Describing the professional bondsman as an adjunct to the enforcement of the law, Kronheim outlined briefly the functions of the bond writer yesterday as follows:

"The bondsman, who has a personal responsibility and familiar law. writer yesterday as follows:

Courts Prefer Professionals

A consensus of opinion among the jurists of the District indicates as marked preference for the services of professional bondsmen, from the standpoint of the court, as opposed to private bondsmen or bonding companies. Discussing the relative effectiveness to the court of professional bondsmen and of personal friends who write bonds for prisoners, it was pointed out by Commissioner Turnage that:

Angry Crowd Encountered.

The accused woman was well protected by policemen and detectives and was never in serious danger of harm from the crowd.

Tonight Miss Parks was again in the Camden County Jail, still holding to her story that Dorothy Rogers, 4, and her brother, Timothy, 2, came to their deaths by accident.

The police frankly declare they do not believe her, but have found no motive with which to confront her and break down her statements.

Miss Parks, who had been sought by the police for a week for questioning in connection with the finding of the skeleton of the girl in the woods at National Park on November 2, walked into the Newark police headquarters early Sunday morning. After making her identity known ahe was arrested and confessed she had buried Dorothy at National Park and Timothy at Absecon, near Atlantic City, both last August. The boy's skeleton was found yesterday.

The woman said that the girl ded after a besting in which she had no intention of seriously harming the child, and that the boy died after an accidental fail down stairs in her Camden home. Becoming frightened, she said, she hid the bodies and then buried ihem. The heads were found separated from the rest of the bones, but Miss Parks denies she diamembered the bodies.

Must Produce Records.

"For example, in order to qualify on a bond, a bondsman must produce records from the District government showing that he is the owner of real estate that is clear and unencumbered. Many times these are needed when the offices from which they must be obtained are closed for the day. In the meantime, the prisoner must languish in a cell until the following day. With the professional bondsman always available, many innocent men are enabled to secure their immediate release, without separation from their families and without the delay that would result if they were confined.

"While the charges which professional bondsmen are permitted to make for their services may seem high in some instances where an innocent person is accused of crime, yet for the risk which the professional bondsmen accused of crime, yet for the risk which the professional bondsman takes, the expense he is under in maintaining an office and employing investigators to check up and locate persons after their release on bond, there is very little net profit in the investigators to check up and locate persons after their release on bond, there is very little net profit in the surety bond business.

"The failure to produce one prisoner, and the consequent forfeiture of the sum of the bond, means that the bondsman must pay the amount of the bond to the court, and it takes many premiums in the ordinary course to make up the loss on one forfeited bond."

Caceres, Identified as Man Who Fired at Lencinas by Witnesses.

GOVERNOR'S AID DEAD

Mendoza, Argentina, Nov. 11 (A.P.).
Jose Caceres, believed by the police to have been the man who shot down Dr. Carlos Washington Lencinas at a political raily last night, died at a hospital today.

Although he was not positively identified as the assassin. a police guard was kept around his bed at the hospital. Some witnesses said that he was the first to shout "Viva Yrigoyen" at the meeting which Dr.
Lencinas, a bitter opponent of President Yrigoyen and a political power in this city, was addressing. These witnesses said that during the disturbance which followed Caceres fired four shots, one of which struck Dr.
Lencinas in the head and another penetrated his lung.

Mendoza today generally mourned the man who had held the political fortunes of the province in his hand.
Police and troops patrolled the streets and all theaters and public meeting places were closed as a precaution against reprisals. Newspapers condemned the shooting as a politically inspired plot of remove a powerful enemy of the president.

Eyen in Buenos Aires the press, with the exception of government organs, blamed the government today for its failure to heed the appeal several days ago of Dr. Lencinas for profection. The more sensational papers predicted serious repercussions in the national capital where political feeling for the past few weeks has been running high.

At least 21 persons were wounded in the sudden outbreak of general shooting in the crowd of 5,000 which was listening to Dr. Lencinas. The latter had just returned from Buenos Alres to face a charge in federal courts of political corruption and maladministration while he was governor of Mendoza province. Last year he was elected a federal senstor against the opposition of the Yrigory party. The senate, however, refused to seat him.

Dr. Juan Carlos Carri Perez, private secretary to Dr. Lencinas, was another to die in a hospital from wounds received in the fray of yesterday, bringing the death toll to three.

THE NEW SERIES

PACKARD EIGHTS

the finest cars the world affords

IN DEVELOPING the new l series Standard, Custom and De Luxe Eights, Packard had one definite object-to make the cars in each line the most luxurious in the world at their prices.

Now that the new Packard Eights are on display the public agrees that nothing which could add to the comfort, convenience and enjoyment of owners has been overlooked. It is literally true that Packard designers and engineers can think of no way in which the new series cars could be made either better or more beautiful. And record-breaking sales reflect unusual public appreciation. Now that the new Packard Eights

Design and colors are more distinguished—appointments, fittings and upholstery more luxu-rious than ever before. Perform-Packard luxury — has been en-hanced by many mechanical im-provements and refinements.

Advanced Engineering Feature

The famous Packard straight-eight motor has been provided with new carburetion which effects greater flexibility with surprising quietness. The new Packard-designed-and-built four-speed transmission permits easier, quieter gear shifting-increases riding comfort by maintaining a better relationship between motor speed and car momentum, and by eliminating power jerks.

Springs of new specifications combine with the advanced Packard Shock Absorbing System —with its mechanism to eliminate front wheel shimmy and steering wheel whip — to achieve new driving and riding ease. The "instant" chassis lubricating sys-tem now oils 43 points at the pull of a plunger.

Other refinements include improved-vision body pillars, adjustable sun visors, newly per-fected shatter-proof glass, adjust-able steering gear and driver's seat, dashboard lockers and many dental conveniences.

Packard cars today, built in three complete lines and at three distinct ranges of price, cover the fine car field—and dominate it! There is a Packard Eight available at the lowest price for which a truly fine car can be sold. And there are Packard Eights on up to the most luxurious custom to the most luxurious custom creations attainable anywhere.

Prices at the factory range from $2375 to $2775 for the Standard Eight; from $3190 to $3885 for the Custom Eight; and from $4585 to $5350 for the De Luxe Eight. Individual custom cars are also available to order up to $10,000.

Wby Not Own a Packard? We cordially invite you to come in and see the new series Packard cars. We will gladly place the model of your choice in your hands for any sort of a demonstration drive you may desire. We are confident that you will find the luxury of Packard transportation greater than you ever thought possible—and that you will be pleasantly surprised when we point out in actual figures how you can enjoy it at no greater expense than your present motoring involves.

NEW LOWS OF YEAR HEACHED BY STOCKS

Liquidation Sends Market Far Below Depths of Recent Panic.

SELLING RUSH AT CLOSE

New York, Nov. 11 (A.P.) .- The stock market was crushed to depths unpenetrated during the recent sellpanic during the last half-hour of trading today, as further liquidation of an urgent character was dumped onto the market.

Trading had displayed a notable alackening until toward the close of the three-hour session, and the ticker had kept well abreast of the market, but the late rush of selling carried the day's total sales to 3,367,150 shares, slightly exceeding Friday's turnover of 3,214,600 shares. Leading issues were depressed 4 to 25 points and the Standard Statistics Co.-Asso ciated Press indices of all groups reached new low levels for the year reached new low levels for the year.

The banking consortium apparently made no effort to check the decline, feeling that the volume of selling was not large enough to call for emergency measures. Prices displayed discouragingly little resistance to the selling.

Bargain Hunters Leave.

Bargain Hunters Leave.

Traders who have been buying on declines hoping to get stocks at the bottom had evidently been disappointed too often of late, and had retired to the sidelines. Considerable short selling was reported, but it was inadequate to lend resilience through covering.

There was not much in the day's news to cause any further inroads upon specul. Ive confidence, but unsettling rumors which were promptly denied in authoritative quarters intensified the already grave state of nervers. The suicide of James J Rioardan, attributed by some to market losses, was the basis of much gloomy theorizing, although reports that he had participated in a large pool were denied.

Call money held officially at 6 per cent, although it was available in the outside market at 5½. Most observers regarded the 6 per cent rate as artificial, believing that banking interests fear a decline would result in heavy withdrawals by both domestic and foreign lenders in order to place their funds at more lucrative rates elsewhere.

Credit Clogging Seen.

Credit Clogging Seen.

While brokers' loans have decreased since September to the extent of about 30 per cent, the credit situation is painted in rather conservative colors in some quarters, where it is sointed out that stocks have dropped about 40 per cent and that credit may be clogged considerably by heavy loans against new and undigested securities, which were issued in enormous volume just before the market collapsed, are stressed in some quarters.

Week-end business reviews pointed to some further price cutting in automobiles and radio sets, but indicated dese industries were struggling with overproduction and keen competition before the stock-market debacie. Such extensive chain-store systems as Krogy Grocery and Safeway Stores reported satisfactory sales during October, and further gratifying curtailment of crude-oil production was reported from California. The list of New York brokerage firms that have sailed during the trying market was read to three, with the announcement that a produce exchange house has failed, but like the two curb house failures previously announced, the firm was small and a negligible failor in Wall street.

A drop of 11½ points in U. S. Steel to a new low for the movement at 10½ which is only 2¾ points above 15½ which is only 2¾ points above 15½ low of the year gives an indication of the severity of the decline.

Minimum Legal Return Set.

Minimum Legal Return Set.

Betting of the minimum legal return for the New York Telephone Co., one of its principal subsidiaries, at 7 per cent by a Federal statutory court was somewhat disappointing, in view of the 8 per cent return sought.

Wet granting an increase of approximately $16,000,000 in the annual rates was a compensating factor.

International Business Machines dropped 25 points to a new 1929 low at 125, and a few less active issues suffered wider gains. Abraham & Btrauss lost 36½ points and Otis Elevator 50.

Many bankers believe amateur speculators have learned a lesson in the regent collapse of the stock market and that an upward trend in savings accounts will be seen from now on. This was their comment regarding a statement yesterday by the American Bankers Association showing a decline

Bankers Association showing a decline in savings.

The first recession in the Nation's savings account in banks in the twenty years during which records have been kept by the association is disclosed in the annual compilation by the organization's savings bank division made public by W. Espey Albig, deputy manager in charge of the division. The shrinkage amounts to over $195,000,000, on the basis of rigures for the year ended June 29, 1919, whereas a year ago the similar report announced an increase of over $3,500,000,000, the largest ever recorded.

Depositors also Fewer.

The number of savings depositors also decreased during the year by more than 500,000 accounts. The lure of the stock market and affiliated activities are cited as part of the explanation for these changes.

A plan to curb stock market speculation on borrowed capital by enlisting the banks of the country in a uniform policy of limiting collateral loans to 75 per cent of security valuations was determined by actual earnings instead of by infinted stock market prices, was put forward yesterday tions was determined by actual earnings instead of by infinited stock market prices, was, put forward yesterday by M. H. Cahill, president of the Plaza Trust Co. and former president of the New York State Bankers Association. He suggested the American Bankers Association as the logical medium for sponsoring such a move. Harry H. Culver, president of the National Association of Real Estate Ragads, will be the guest speaker on the Halsey, Stuart & Co. radio program Thursday. The program will be handcast over a Nation-wide chain of 37 stations. Culver, who is one of the outstanding figures in the real seasts business, will discuss "Recent Tandencies in Real Estate Financing." He is one of a group of prominent meth who appear as speakers on the Halsey, Stuart & Co. program from time to time.

The association, which he heads, consists of 620 local real estate backings, having 40.000 members. Culver is the founder and builder of Culver City, Calif., and is very active in real estate and banking circles on the Facific Coast.

wifter making allowances for all possible contingencies. United States Steel Corporation is expected to earn well over $3 a share for the fourth quarter, or approximately $19 for the current calendar year, according to a comprehensive analysis prepared by M. J. Mechan & Co.

"This means." the analysis continues. "that after the payment of reular dividends and the extra just declared, United States Steel is likely to carry to surplus this year at least $11 a share, or about $90,000,000, supposing that only the regular dividend is declared. The analysis points out that in the past, sharp breaks in security values always have restred in a slowing up in industry but that since stocks of raw materials and finished goods are comparatively light, public consumption will have to be met, to a large extent, at least, by production. For this reason, the corporation's carnings for the fourth quarter should redect little more than the natural seasonal decline.

The Wealth of a Continent

Australia, your geography teacher used to tell you, is a continent which lies between the Indian and the Pacific Oceans. It has great natural resources, contains many large and evergrowing cities, and has one of the most progressive governments in the world. Its total wealth is now around second 2000 2000.

Yet the equivalent of the entire wealth of this huge land was wiped out in one disastrous day on the New York Stock Exchange. Between $8,000,000,000 and $9,000,000,000 was automatically crased from the value of $80 stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange. The wealth of a continent wiped out!

Many people suffered irreparable loss on this day—October 29th. Hundreds of thousands of others suffered loss in varying degrees. There was only one class of investors who remained unaffected—those who had their money safely placed in sound, non-fluctuating securities—such securities as the 6% First Mortgage Notes offered through the Swartzell, Rheem & Hensey Commany.

Our clients have viewed calmly far worse panies in speculative stocks . . . they have seen the interest on their investment returned to them steadily, unfallingly, since the founding of this company more than sixty years ago—through all the widely varying conditions since 1869.

In all that time no investor has ever suffered a penny's loss.

A LONG WORD—but, then, it has a mighty big meaning. Diversification is an age-old principle, and when applied to banking, insurance, farming, industry, or to the investment of money, it is the greatest factor in safety.

To secure the safety of diversification, many individuals find in the investment trust a medium for joining forces. The skilled managers of investment trusts are able to spread the combined resources of individuals over an in-vestment list containing securities of the coun-try's leading industries.

Investment Corporation of North America has shown unusual profits in periods of increasing as well as decreasing security prices. It affords large and small investors a high degree of safety and many other advantages which we shall be glad to explain to you, without obligation.

Score another for that sturdy old campaigner. Display. The son of Pairplay showed one of his good performances when he galloped home an easy winner in the running of the Baltimore was he he galloped home an easy winner in the running of the Baltimore Handicap which was provided as a feature by the Maryland Jockey Glub this afternoon. The Baltimore was a dash of 1 mile and 70 yards for all ages and the Walter J. Salmon Stable sent two to the post, Dr. Freeland and Display. The distance was thought to be too short for Display and for this reason rather than any other he failed to find the support usually accorded him.

L. Schaefer had the mount and in the early running Display as usaul, was a distant trailer. Princess Tina was out in front, setting a rapid pace. Sum Edwin was in close pursuit and the pair raced heads apart until just before making the turn into the home stretch. The field bunched up at this stage and Display was closing fast on the outside. Going to the furlong pole Display had passed the leaders and was out in front a head in front of Sun Edwin.

In the final furlong, Sun Edwin began to tire and Display, drawing away in leisurely fashion, won by a length from his stable-companion, Dr. Fréeland, who was up in time to best Sun Edwin a head for the place. Hollday was fourth another length away and then followed the tiring Princess Tina. Misstepeased up when he tired, finishing last, beaten a length and a half by Strolling Player. The latter was a keen factor until swinging for home where he was sothered some and he pinned his cars back and quit.

The net value of the stake to the winner was 33,995 and with this amount to his credit Display passed Exterminator in amount of money won by an American thoroughbred. Display's winnings is exceeded by only one horse, Zev. who is the leading money winner in this country.

Following the disqualification of Balko in the fourth race came a ruling which brought a suspension to Jockey Bejahak for the

Sandy Twice Bumped

Pimileo meeting this Fall came after the finish of the Ruxton Handicap, when Balko beat Sandy out a length. Balko, after being outrun the first quarter, was taken around on the outside at the far turn; where he moved up with a rush. Sandy, racing in second position, came through next to the length. in second position, came through next to the inside. As they swiing into the home stretch Balko came over and bumped Sandy, causing Thurber to take up. Going to the furiong pole. Balko was barely clear of Sandy, bore over sharply to the rail, and Thurber igain was forced to take back and same to the outside. At the finish sandy was going the stronger of the two.

Sandy was going the stronger of the two.

After dismounting Thurber lost no time in climbing up into the stew-areks, stand and lodging a claim of foul, which was allowed. The change in, the placing made Sandy first, Greenock second and Crystal Domino thrd. Greenock and My Sis had a lost taken out of them in the early running, setting a fast pace. The pair raced head and head down the back stretch; but when the real issue came both atopped, My Sis dropping out of the struggle completely in the final quarter.

4-YEAR-OLD ACES MEET AT BOWIE

Diavolo, Sun Beau in $10,000 Thanksgiving Handicap.

The Southern Maryland Agricultural Association, with John Farrell, ir., pinch hitting as general manager for James F. O'Hara, who is still ill, will promote the last race of the season between the 4-year-old stars Diavel, and Sun Beau. The Kentucky-bred son for Whiek Broom 2, and Vexatious and the Virginia-bred son of Sun Briar and Beautiful Lady will meet at Bowie Thanksgiving Day in a $15,000 gallop of one mile and a furlong for 3-year-olds and over that should not its winner about $10,000 on Thanksgiving, but very likely the two colts will meet at level weights.

John B. Campbell had, 125 pounds apiece on them in the $30,000 Washington Handicap at Laurel, Frank J. Bryan weighted them slike—126 pounds each—in the Pimilico Cup., aithough in the Baltimore Handicap he asked Sun Beau to give Diavols, pound, presumably on the theory that the Sun Briar colt has a little something on the son of Whisk Broom II, in the matter of speed.

Consensus Rates Both at

Top of Division.

The expert consensus rates these colts the best 4-year-olds of the season and better than any of the s-year-olds, Blue Larkspur, the most suc-cessful horse of that age not except-d. And, after considerable campaigned. And, after considerable campaigning, both are going to Bowie at too form. It was not, however, until recently that Sun Beau figured up with Diavolo in anybody's dope book. Up to the middle of September 'Diavolo had the call and merited it richly. Under the silks of Mrs. Henry C. Philips, whose luck in the course of the last few seasons has been a remarkable phase of American horse racing. Diavolo. a recruit from the breeding setablishment of Harry Payne Whitney, had won revivals of the Dixle, Brookale and Saratoga Handicass and the Saratoga and Jockey Club Gold Cups.

He had bowed in defeat to only one horse. Light Carbine, under a catch of 98 pounds, had licked him in a revival of the Brooklyn Handicap, but in the Brooklyn, getting 4 pounds from Sun Beau, he licked that big Virginian.

Over Diavole.

Sun Beau stepped into racing's spotlight at Havre de Grace early in October when he won a revival of the Havre de Grace Handicap, a dash of 1½ miles, in which the closest horses to him at the finiah were Glenwild and Bateau. He has since licked Diavolo in renewals of the Aqueduct Handicap and Hawthorne Gold Cup and won the Washington. Sun Beau passed up aundry engagements at Pimilico in order that he might come keen to Bowie racing, which will begin November 18, to run 12 days. There will be $235,000 in purses at Prince Georges Park.

WAVERLY TO PRACTICE. The Waverly A. Or will practice to-night at Seventh and O streets north-west at 7:30 in preparation for Sun-day's game with the Northerns on the Silver Spring Field. The Waverlys are also scheduled to play the Virginia A. O. on November 24 and the Irving-tons in Baltimore on December 1.

Winnings Yesterday.

Good, but not great, is the best that can be said of Walter J. Saimon's Display. For it is none other than the temperamental son of Fair Play that threatens the record of Zev. By his conquest in the Baltimore Handicap at Pimlico yesterday Display added 3,995 to his winnings, bringing his grand total for five years of racing up to $255,076.

He is now but $88,863 behind Zev's mark and a potential starter in tomorrow's $10,000 Pimlico Cup and the $25,000 Thanksgiving Day Handicap at Bowie. It is impossible for the Salmon color bearer to equal or pass Zev's record before the end of the year for the very reason that there are not sufficient stakes yet to be decided to give him the chance of "picking up" $85,000 or more.

However, Reither Owner Salmon nor Trainer Healey have signified their intention of retiring Display at the end of the current campaign. If he is brought back to the races again next year he will have ample opportunity of passing Zev's record.

The son of Pairplay showed one of his good performances when he galloped home an easy winner in the running of the Baltimore was a dash of 1 mile and 70 yards for all ages and the Walter J. Salmon Stable sent two to the post, Dr. Freeland and Display. The distance was thought to be too short for Display and for this reason rather than any other he failed to find the support usually accorded him.

L. Schaefer had the mount and in the early running Display as usaul, was a distant trailer. Princess Tina was out in front, setting a rapid pace. Sun Edwin was in close pursuit and the pair raced heads apart until just before making the turn into the home stretch. The field bunched up at this stage and Display was closing fast on the outside. Going to the furiong pole Display had passed the leaders and was out in front a head in front of Sun Edwin.

In the final furlong, Sun Edwin began to tire and Display, drawing away in leisurely fashion, won by a length from his atable-companion. Dr. Freeland, who was up in time to beat Sun Edwin a head for the place. Holiday was fourth another length away and then followed the tiring Princess Tins. Sandy Twice Bumped

The first disqualification at the meeting this Fall came after Pimilico meeting this Fall came after the finish of the Ruxton Handicap, when Balko beat Sandy out a length. Balko, after being outrun the first quarter, was taken around on the outside at the far turn; where he moved up with a rush. Sandy, racing in accord position, came through next to the inside. As they awing into the home attects Balko came over and bumped Sandy, causing Thurber to take up. Going to the furlong pole. Balko was barely clear of Sandy, bore over sharply to the rail, and Thurber again was forced to take back and came to the outside. At the finish Sandy was going the stronger of the two.

Sandy was going the stronger of the two.

After dismounting Thurber lost no time in climbing up into the stewstews, stand and lodging a claim of foul, which was allowed. The change in, the placing made Sandy first,
Greenock second and Crystal Domino third. Greenock and My Sis had a lost taken out of them in the early running, setting a fast pace. The pair raced head and head down the back stretch; but when the real issue came both atopped, My Sis dropping out of the struggle completely in the final quarter.

4-YEAR-OLD ACES MEET ATBOWIE

Diavolo, Sun Beau in $10,000 Thanksgiving Handicap.

The Southern Maryland Agricultural Association, with John Farrell, jr., pinch hitting as general manager for James F. O'Hara, who is still ill, will promote the last race of the season between the 4-year-old stars Diayeb and Sim Beau. The Kentucky-bred son lof Whisk Broom 2, and Vexatious and the Virginia-bred son of Sun Briar and Beautiful Lady will meet at Bowie Thanksgiving Day in a $15,000 gallop of one mile and a furlong for 3-year-olds and over that should net its winner about $10,000 on Thanksgiving, but very likely the two colts will meet at level weights.

John B. Campbell had 125 pounds apiece on them in the $30,000 Washington Handicap at Laurel, Frank J. Bryan weighted them alike—128 pounds each—in the Pimlico Cup, although in the Baltimore Handicap he asked Sun Beau to give Diavois a pound, presumably on the theory that the Sun Briar colt has a little something on the son of Whiek Broom II, in the matter of speed. He has undoubtedly.

Consensus Rates Both at Top of Division.

Top of Division.

The expert consensus rates these colts the best 4-year-olds of the seaind better than any of the 3-yearolds, Blue Larkspur, the most suc-cessful horse of that age not except-ed. And, after considerable campaignd. And, after considerable campaigning, both are going to Bowie at too form. It was not, however, until recently that Sun Beau figured up with Diavolo in anybody's dope book. Up to the middle of September Diavolo had the call and merited it richly. Under the allks of Mrs. Henry C. Philips, whose luck in the course of the last few seasons has been a remarkable phase of American horse racing. Diavolo, a recynit from the breeding establishment of Harry Payne Whitney, had won revivals of the Dixie, Brookdale and Saratoga Handicabs and the Saratoga and Jocky Club Gold Cups.

He had bowed in defeat to only one horse. Light Carbine, under a catch of 98 pounds, had licked him in a revival of the Brooklyn, getting 4 pounds from Sun Beau, he licked that big Virginian.

Sun Beau Twice Scored

Over Diavole.

Sun Beau stepped into racing's apotlight at Havre de Grace early in October when he won a revival of the Havre de Grace Handicap, a dash of 11/4 miles, in which the closest horses to him at the finish were Glenwild and Bateau. He has since licked Diavolo in renewals of the Aqueduct Handicap and Hawthorne Gold Cup and won the Washington. Sun Beau passed up gundry engagements at Pimice in order that he might come keen to Bowie racing, which will begin November 18, to run 12 days. There will be $235,000 in purses at Prince Georges Park.

WAVERLY TO PRACTICE.

The Waverly A. Or will practice to-night at Seventh and O streets north-meet at 7:30 in preparation for Sun-day's game with the Northerns on the Silver Spring Field. The Waverlys are also scheduled to play the Virginia A. C. on November 24 and the Irving-tons in Baltimore on December 1. RACING SELECTIONS

Thomas W. Cahill is making the trip here from New York in an effort to straighten out difficulties in the Washington Soccer League involving Clan MacLennan and Concord clubs. Protests and counter protests have flown thick and fast since the Soctoh kickers were awarded The Washington Foot trophy at a banquet last season. One result of the controversy was the suspension of the entire Clan team, including officials, for falling to turn the cup over to Concord as ordered by the U. S. F. A. Recently the parent body reinstated all members of the Clan Club who signed an application stating that they had not alded or abetted the menagement in the retention of The Foot cup. Now this reinstatement has been found faulty and Cahill is to bring the "voluminous," as he expresses it, correspondence on the case here.

Among those who are expected to be present are all members of the Clan MacLennan Club of 1928-29, John Malloch, former secretary of the local association and members of the Washington association will be held to-

Rauber and Ahearn to Shake Up Teams for Battle Today.

Lack of Punter Is Handicap to Green

Team Is Overrated, Ahern Believes.

However, Ahern thinks that his team has been greatly overrated by the public in general and has clearly pointed out the general inexperience of his eleven warriors who are battling for their school. The Western mentor is not at all ashamed of the two defeats his charges have been dealt.

Lacking a capable punter, and any one who can toes forward pass's with sny degree of consistency, the West-yrn Eleven has been forced to rely solely upon the line-bucking and ground—ining abilities of 's two backs, Draper and Millard. And when the Ahern team finds itself deep in the own territory, it is in jeopardy unless the wind can add a few yards to otherwise woefully short kicks.

But good players, or no good players, it 'till be a fighting Western Team that makes its final bid for what is left of the interhigh gridi on honors of the year at the C ntral Stadium today. A loss for the West Enders would leave that team next to the bottom of the heap with only a win over the lowly Business Team to its credit. A victory, on the other hand, would give it an even break and a chance for a tie for second place in the event that Central whips Eastern in the finale a week from today. Lacking a capable punter, and any une who can toes forward pass's with any degree of consistency, the West-spin Eleven has been forced to rely produced thing abilities of the beat of the beat and the second passes of the beat of the beat and the second passes of the second passes of the second passes of the lack of the beat of t

Maxey, Ryan and Mozelesky all scored touchdowns for the Indians and Capt. Sauzerman added one extra point by a field goal in the tries for points after touchdowns. Ruthherford scored the only touchdown for the Maroon Eleven.

Generals-Blue Devils Meet on Grid in 1930 and 1931.

EXINGTON, Va., Nov. 11.—Weshington and The will meet Duke University, Durham, N. C., in Thanksgiving Day gridiron games in 1930 and 1931, R. A. Smith, director of intercollegiate athletics, announced here tonight. Next year's battle will be in the new Duke Stadium, but the site of the 1931 game was not announced. Jimmy Dehart, coach at W. and L. in 1922-25, is head coach and director of athletics at the Durham institution now. The game supplants the W. and L.-Florids and Duke-Davidson Thanksgiving Day games of some years standing.

The Generals and the Blue Devils have met only once before in football, the game being played here October 8, 1927, as the third on the locals' schedule. Washington and Lee won, 12 to 7, but only after the invaders had thrown a bad scare into them by making the score stand at 7-6 during much of the game. No members of either team who played in 1927 will be eligible max year, and only Hawkins. tackle; Barnett, full back, and Snodgrass, center, of the present Blue and White eleven, saw service in the game two years ago. al to The Washington Post.

Without State Aid.

Washington and Lee athlette authorities feel that it is especially fitting that the Turkey Day game should be arranged with the Blue Devils, when it is remembered that Duke, Vanderblit and W. and L. are the only schools in the Southern Conference which are without State aid.

In addition to Dehart, who was formerly coach here, two other members of the Duke athlette staff make the ties between the two schools more than ordinarily close. Eddie Cameron, captain and full back of the 1923 General grid machine, and W. E. "Tex" Tilson, captain and fackle of the 1924 combine here, are coaching at Durham under Dehart after playing under him for several years here.

Just what McAuline will do in the way of reconstruction of the backfield is problematical at present, but the replacement of De Mello and Guarnieri for Champa and Maisvich, respectively, is a strong probability. M ORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 11.

Irritated beyond a calculable measure at the manner in which All-American Lloyd Brazil and his University of Detroit mates treated them before their "west Virginia Day" patrons here last Saturday, the West Virginia University Mountaineer gridders disregarded the fact that today was supposed to have been the day of peace and set about a warlike preparation for a third consecutive game with a strong eleven, the annual battle with Lou Little's Georgetown University team at Washington, D. C., this coming Saturday. Victims of a super performance by the Titans' brilliant captain and a little willi-o'-the-wip runner, "Snitz". "With these sophs showing real football ability, the improvement of the team naturally followed, and by the time we played Yale we were able to put our strongest line-up on the field. When you stop and think about it, you can understand that what we did up there in New Haven was nothing miraculous."

Champa still is in Providence Hospital, auffering concussion of the brain, and although last night he was reported resting easily it was said that no visitors will be admitted to see him for two or three days. Malevich aggravated an old ankie injury and the Brookland coaches decided it was best to excuse him for the remainder of the campaign in view of the fact that it is his last year and only two more games remain to be played.

The others injured and their allments are: Gene Murphy, half back, infected leg; Johnny Oliver, quarter back, wrenched shoulder: Oscar Gerth and Ross Zeno, left and right ends, respectively, strained backs; Dennis Collins, reserve guard, bruised arm, and Carl DeMello, reserve half back, sore shoulder.

All But Two to Return To Line-up Saturday.
After first glancing at this list it would seem hard for Head Coach Mc-Auliffe to muster a team to meet William and Mary Saturday at Vill-lamsburg, Va., in the Cardinals' annual night game with the Indiana. But all of the injured with the exception of Malevich and Champa as expected to recover in time to take their usual positions.
The loss of Malevich and Champa is a severe blow to C. U. hopes as those two represented about 75 per cent of the Cardinals' back-neld strength. Malevich had no equal on the squad as an all-around performer, while Champa more than held his own as a defensive back and interferer.

(AP).—The organizing committee of the bank for international settlements has drawn up the statutes and selected the site of the bank, but unexpectedly has found great difficulties over the trust agreement.

The bankers composing the committee had hoped to complete their work in time to get away by Wednesday, but the French delegation today delayed approval of the trust agreement for reasons that, under the conference's secrecy rule, have been withheld from the press.

According to some reports, the French desired to couple reparations and allied debts. It is also said the conference could not satisfy the French government in fitting Chancellor showders. Ever since the choice of Basel. Switzerland, as the site for the bank there have been difficulties. The Belgians withdrew last week, leaving two observers, because they felt that unfair political considerations had been urged against the selection of Brussels. In other quarters it has been said that the choice of the site was a politician's rather than a banker's decision.

Virginia Public Service Co.

Virginia Public Service Co.

Mrs. E. M. C.—I have $3.000 to invest but it must be in something absolutely safe. What bonds would you auggest? Do you know anything about the stock of the Virginia Public Service Co.? Have been advised to ourchase it but will await your advice.

Answer.—While there are many bonds of municipalities, railroad and industrial corporations on which interest is regularly paid annually and which return a substantial yield to the investor and therefore are considered suitable for conservative investment, there are none that may be regarded as "absolutely safe" other than bonds of the United States Government. The preferred atock of the Virginia Public Service Co., on which dividends of 7 per cent on one class and 6 per cent on the other are being paid annually, appear to be altractive from an investment viewpoint, though of course not to be classed with U. S. Government bonds, or even some of the other bonds herein referred to. Earnings be classed with U. S. Government bonds or even some of the other bonds herein referred to. Earnings of the company are on an ascending scale and there seems every reason to expect a continuance of the pres-ent dividend rates on both issues of preferred stock of the company men-tioned.
